- Szeged have never made it to Cologne, losing in the quarter-final twice before. Vardar could qualify for their third straight VELUX EHF FINAL4, after 2017 (winner) and 2018 (fourth)
- Vardar won the first leg 31:23, Szeged's biggest VELUX EHF Champions League defeat since losing by the same score line to THW Kiel in the first leg of the 2014/15 quarter-final.
- It was Szeged's second-biggest CL defeat since losing 26:16 in the CL Qualification 2013/14 in Skopje – against Metalurg.
- The two sides have met nine times in Europe's top flight, with Szeged earning only one win compared to Vardar's five.
- Vardar have lost only one of their last seven CL matches - against another Hungarian team, Veszprém.
- Vardar have won five of eight away matches this CL season.
- Szeged are unbeaten in eight CL home matches this season: six wins (including 33:32 vs PSG) and two draws.
- Spaniards Joan Canellas and Jorge Maqueda won the CL in 2017 with Vardar before they joined Szeged.
- Russian left back Sergej Gorbok played for Szeged before returning to Vardar this season.
- Vardar's Croats Igor Karacic and Ivan Cupic played many years in the national team with Szeged goalkeeper Mirko Alilovic, who retired from the team after EHF EURO 2018.
- Szeged vs Vardar is a clash between two Spanish coaches: Juan Carlos Pastor (Szeged) and Roberto Parrondo (Vardar).
- If the first leg matches are an indication for the outcome of the quarter-final, four Spanish coaches will make it to Cologne.
- Vardar coach Parrondo won the CL in 2008 and 2009 with Szeged's Swedish left wing Jonas Källman at Ciudad Real.
- The last time Vardar were eliminated in the quarter-final was by a Hungarian team – Veszprém in 2016.
- Lifting the trophy in 2014, Szeged are still the only non-German club to have won the Men's EHF Cup in the past 15 years.

ROAD TO THE VELUX EHF FINAL4

Media accreditation for three top club events of the season starts

The 2018/19 club season will culminate in May and June with three most prestigious tournaments taking place in three different venues.

The DELO WOMEN'S EHF FINAL4 will be played over 11 and 12 May in the Papp Laszlo Budapest Sportarena. One week later, the focus of the handball world will shift to the AKQUINET EHF Cup Finals in the Sparkassen-Arena in Kiel, Germany and the season will reach its climax with the VELUX EHF FINAL4 on 1 and 2 June in the majestic LANXESS arena in Cologne.

The EHF Media and Communications Department is launching the accreditation procedure for all three events at the same time and requests from media representatives are now being accepted.

Written and online media, photographers, TV and radio representatives can submit their request for accreditation via online forms below.
